

Juniata Valley Bank Social Media Guidelines

The Juniata Valley Bank believes in the value of open and honest communication and welcomes the opportunity for the public to make comments on social media platforms. However, we have established rules to maintain a “community-friendly” and “work-safe” site. We reserve the right to remove comments and/or block users for the following reasons:

- Profanity
- Advertising
- Inappropriate words or phrases
- Off-topic or irrelevant content
- Any personal information
- Personal attacks
- Impersonations of another individual or company
- Language that is abusive toward the bank or other commentators
- Content that promotes hate or attacks groups of people based on ethnic, religious, or other criteria
- Discussions of (or advocacy for) political or religious points-of-view
- Content that strays far off-topic from the original post
- Content deemed to be legally inappropriate

By submitting a comment on one of our social media platforms, you agree that the text of the comment is your own and does not reflect the views and opinions of Juniata Valley Bank, and this site, Juniata Valley Bank and its representatives are not liable for any and all repercussions and/or damages that might occur as a result of your post. The Juniata Valley Bank social media sites are governed by US Law.

Simple tips to help protect your privacy online:

- Never open emails from unknown or untrusted sources. They may contain harmful viruses, rendering your computer or mobile device susceptible to intrusions.
- Never provide personal information (social security number, bank account information, or where you bank for example) to a website or email claiming to be a financial institution. Chances are the website/email is a scam “phishing” for personal information.
- When banking online, make sure to routinely monitor your accounts for signs of fraud.
- To best ensure your personal information is safe, install virus protection software on your home computer.
